MOST REVEREND ALBERT

To the Faculty, Graduates and Student Body of Althoff Catholic High School:

It is a joy for us to extend our best wishes and promise of prayers for the future.

We are pleased to honor the Class of 1976 for their achievements during their four years of Catholic High School Education. Graduates, when you entered Althoff, you were given many opportunities to expand your knowledge in the arts and sciences, and especially, as Catholic students, to do your duty to God by making a faith commitment to Jesus Christ and His Church.
We ask Almighty God and His Virgin Mother to bless your efforts in the future as you go forth to serve the Church and community under the Banner of His Love.

It is our prayer that you are as proud of Althoff Catholic High School as we are of you. When you enrolled at Althoff you were given many challenges.
For you, the Graduates, these challenges have been met and you are now prepared to continue your quest for knowledge and truth.

May each student at Althoff always be an "Althoff Booster" and strive to make the Catholic Youth of this area aware of the wonderful benefits and graces available to those who receive a Catholic High School Education.

A word of thanks to your good parents and your pastors for assisting us in making your education possible.

God bless you always.

Sincerely yours in Christ,
Albert R. Zuroweste

Congress of the United States,

Began and held at the City of New York, on Wednesday, the fourth of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine.

THE ~~Senate~~ ^{number} of the States having determined to adopt a Constitution, and by virtue whereof the same is adopted, and is to be tried and determined,

RESOLVED, by the Senate and ~~House~~ ^{the House of Representatives} of the United States of America, ~~in Congress assembled~~, that the following Articles be proposed to the Legislature of the several States, as amendments to the Constitution of the United States, all or any of which may be ratified by three fourths of the said Legislatures, to be and to continue and remain a part of the said Constitution.

ARTICLES in addition to and amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America, proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislatures of the several States pursuant to the fifth Article of the original Constitution,

Article the first. ~~for the first enumeration required by the first Article of the Constitution there shall be~~ ^{Representatives} ~~one hundred~~ ^{forty} thousand until the number shall amount to

~~Article the second~~ & to law, varying the compensation for the services of the Senators and Representatives shall take effect at the next election of Representatives - health being entituled
~~Article the third~~ Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government for redress of grievances.

~~Article the fourth. Of well regulated Militia. Being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.~~

Article the seventh. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in the cases of impeachment, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall he be compelled in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

Article the eighth In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the state and district where he or she shall be charged with the offense committed, which shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

~~shall be allowed to sue at common law when the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no trial by jury shall be otherwise than in any Court of the United States the value of the cause.~~

~~Section 11. No law shall be passed for raising money or expending the same except by vote of both Houses of Congress.~~

~~The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, are reserved to the States, or to the people.~~

Congress of the United States,

Began and held at the City of New York, on Wednesday the fourth of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine.

THE UNITED STATES, having determined by their Representatives to make known to the world the following Resolutions, which, it is declared, will be observed by the United States until the year of one thousand eight hundred and ten, unless sooner altered or superseded by other resolutions of the Congress of the United States.

RESOLVED, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the following Articles be proposed to the Legislature of the United States according to the Constitution of the United States, all of which articles when ratified by three-fourths of the said Legislature shall be part and parcel of the said Constitution.

ARTICLES in addition to and amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislature of the several States pursuant to the fifth Article of the original Constitution.

Article the first. For the first enumeration required by the first Article of the Constitution there shall be Representative for every thirty thousand until the number shall amount to one hundred, after which the proportion shall be regulated by Congress, that the number of Representatives may be increased to two hundred. Representations for every forty thousand persons, and the number of Representatives shall amount to two hundred, after which the proportion shall be regulated by Congress, that there shall not be less than two hundred Representations, nor more than one Representative for every fifty thousand persons.

Article the second. When, during the session of the Senate and Representatives shall take up and consider an election of Representatives, shall be chosen by ballot.

Article the third. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the freedom of speech or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Article the fourth. A well regulated Militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed. But no person shall be deprived of his right to bear arms, because he is a member of a militia, or because he is a citizen of the United States.

Article the fifth. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no Writ of Assistance shall issue, but upon probable cause supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Article the sixth. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be tried twice, nor shall he be compelled in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

Article the seventh. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State and district where the crime was committed, which shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to have a witness in his favor called and to be heard against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses who shall be bound to testify in his defense.

Article the eighth. In suits at common law, when the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be重新审判, otherwise reexamined in any Court of the United States, the Trial shall be by jury, unless the parties consent otherwise.

Article the ninth. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Article the tenth. No enumeration in this Constitution, of certain rights, shall be construed, as denying or infringing others retained by the people.

Article the eleventh. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, are reserved by the States, and by the people respectively, or to the people.

ATTEST. Fredrick Madiam Speaker of the House of Representatives

John Adams President of the United States, and President of the Senate.

Done at New York, the fourth day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine.

Congress of the United States,

Began and held at the City of New York, on Wednesday, the fourth of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine.

THE UNITED STATES of America, having a number of free states, engaged in a confederation, or compact among themselves, or among themselves, that justice, & safety, & welfare, of the commonwealth may be promoted, do ordain and establish the following articles of confederation and perpetual union:

RESOLVED, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that the same shall be proposed to the legislatures of the several states, to be submitted to the Constitution of the United States, all or any of which articles, when ratified by three fourths of the said legislatures, to be and shall be made part of the said Constitution.

ARTICLES in addition to and amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America, proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislatures of the several States pursuant to the fifth Article of the original Constitution.

Article the first. For the first enumeration required by the first Article of the Constitution there shall be ~~one~~ Representative for every thirty thousand until the number shall amount to one hundred, after which the proportion shall be regulated by Congress, that then shall be settled in an hundred Representatives in proportion to the number of free inhabitants, Representatives for every forty thousand persons, the number of Representatives shall amount to two hundred, after which the proportion shall be regulated by Congress, that then shall not be less than two hundred Representatives nor more than one Representative for every fifty thousand persons.

Article the second. When, during the congesession for the service of the Senators and Representatives shall take an account of Representatives shall be increased.

Article the third. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Article the fourth. A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.

Article the fifth. No Soldier shall in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Article the sixth. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Writ of Assistance shall issue, but upon probable cause supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Article the seventh. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger, nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be tried twice, for the same offence, nor shall any person be compelled in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor shall private property be taken for publick use without just compensation.

Article the eighth. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district where he shall be tried, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, to have a witness called to his defense, and to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in aid of his defense.

Article the ninth. In suits at common law, when the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by jury shall be otherwise reexamined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

Article the tenth. No tax or duty shall be imposed on exports, except what may result from a general rule of trade.

Article the eleventh. The enumeration in this Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Article the twelfth. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, are reserved to the States, and to the people.

ATTEST,

I, Franklin, Vice President of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives, John Adams, President of the Senate, and Vice President of the United States, and President of the Senate.

Done at New York, the 17th day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine.

Congress of the United States,

Began and held at the City of New York, on Wednesday, the fourth of March, one thousand seven hundred and eighty nine.

THE Congress of the United States having determined to adopt a Bill to amend the Constitution of the United States, in these words:

RESOLVED, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that the following article be proposed to the Legislature of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, all or any of which may be ratified by three-fourths of the said Legislature, to add to the Constitution of the said Constitution, viz:

ARTICLES in addition to and amendment of the Constitution of the United States of America, proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislature of the several States pursuant to the fifth Article of the original Constitution.

Article the first. For the first enumeration required by the first Article of the Constitution there shall be Representative for every thirty thousand until the number shall amount to one hundred, after which the proportion shall be regulated by Congress, that then shall be established one hundred Representatives in the House of Representatives for every forty thousand persons, and the number of Representatives shall amount to two hundred, after which the proportion shall be regulated by Congress, that then shall not be less than two hundred Representatives nor more than one Representative for every fifty thousand persons.

Article the second. When, varying the compensation for the service of the Senators and Representatives shall be apportioned among them, of Representatives who shall have entered.

Article the third. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

Article the fourth. The right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed, but shall be guaranteed to them in their respective states.

Article the fifth. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no Writ of Assistance shall issue, but upon probable cause supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

Article the sixth. No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be tried twice, nor shall he be compelled in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

Article the seventh. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State and district where the crime was committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, and to have a copy thereof; and to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

Article the eighth. In suits at common law, when the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be再tried in any Court of the United States, the parties to the action.

Article the ninth. Before any law shall be passed, no capitation or other direct tax shall be imposed, except in proportion to the population.

Article the tenth. The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Article the eleventh. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

I Frankland Christian Mullikin, Speaker of the House of Representatives

H John Adams, President of the United States, and President of the Senate.

ATTEST

John Adams, President of the United States, and President of the Senate.

Done at New York, the 4th instant.

THE SHRINE OF OUR LADY OF THE SNOWS

Congratulates the 1976 Graduates of
ALTHOFF CATHOLIC HIGH SCHOOL

The adventure of life awaits you. May it be a step of challenge coupled with the precepts gained from your inspiring Catholic education.

"Let it be..."
was how Mary put meaning into her life. She was willing to take God at His dare.
"...and all generations
shall call her happy."

CONGRATULATES THE CLASS OF 1976

Mr. Gasaway — Moderator

We would like to wish this for America in the Bicentennial Year —

That the people of America as a Nation soar like an eagle.
That we may reach for the heavens and hope for the future—
all that we can be and not what we are.
